

Let's Think About It

Respond to the following questions using bullet points. Save your PDF after you complete each response.

Pick a part of the cell phone that was discussed in this lesson. What did you learn about this part? What did you find interesting about it?

Where do you see your future self?

Would you be more interested in the back end assembly process building a semiconductor, or would you be more interested in using these semiconductors in a device? Explain.